IT'S "TOWN HALL" AT DANCE

Last Chance To Get Bids at College For Annual Affair — Plan Sale To Late Comers At Entrance to Club— Maps Issued

By BUD DECKER

Heigh ho and away we go! With a buck and a fluff we'll go to the Strut. With a slight stretching of our claim to poetic license it is merely a high falooting way of stating that it will be "town hall" tomorrow night at the Soph "Spooky" Strut down south at Devonshire Country Club under the mellow glow of a witch's full moon (courtesy World Almanac and weather forecast).

I Ain't Got a Chance

With "I Ain't Got a Ghost of a Chance" as the Hallowe'en theme of the popular Al Lamonet and his orchestral arrangements, and surrounded by a black and yellow holiday setting with just the proper amount of anemic skeletons and occasional screams from dark corners to exemplify Hallowe'en hob goblins, an evening of dancing is promised by Soph president, Frank Muloon, that will never be forgotten.

For once "we eat" at the Strut. Due to the long distance from the nearest refreshment stand, soft drinks and sandwiches will be served at Devonshire to allay the fear of starvation.

Vernon Reise, in charge of ticket sales, has made arrangements for a limited number of tickets to be placed on sale on the private roadway leading to the club to take care of those who were unable to secure their duets at the college.

Maps, Maps, Maps

To insure against anyone losing their way while trying to find the dance site, maps have been placed in everyone's post box and larger maps placed at strategic spots about the campus, or take this bit of information with you. Proceed down highway 101 until San Carlos is reached (21 miles) and turn right onto Cypress Avenue, which is the main street of the town and is immediately opposite the depot. Proceed up Cypress approximately three fourths of a mile until a sign is reached pointing to the left and reading Devonshire Country Club. Then follow your nose and there you are.

Dancing will begin promptly at nine p. m. and will continue until one in the morning, so let's all bring our escorts or escortesses and go Hallowe'ening with the sophs at the strut. All you need is a bid and transportation. Bids are still on sale on the campus for $1.25 and will be sold at the country club for $1.50.

ACTS MUST USE OWN STAGE MEN

Stage acts for the Chickens' Ball must furnish their own stage hands and will be asked to take complete charge of their number during the time it is on the stage, said Erwin Bischoff, chairman. This is necessary, Bischoff explained, because of the demands upon the members of the fraternity in carrying on other tasks connected with the Ball. It is simply an appeal for cooperation, Bischoff added. Time between acts, because of their number, would have to be limited to two minutes, so that a smooth show would be assured, the chairman stated.

Acts so far lined up for the Ball are numerous and varied. They include many of the College's leading organizations. Elsa Magnus, president of the fraternity, expressed her pleasure at the "fine co-operation the members of the committees had received during the past weeks." Sixteen acts are on the list at present. They are: Phi Lambda Chi, A. W. S., P. E. Majors, American Student Union, Scribes Club, Sigma Rho Gamma, Music Federation Board, Piano Ensemble, A Capella Choir, Executive Board, Spanish Club, French Club, K. P. Club, Brush and Pallette, Low Juniors and Low Seniors.

LEE SCARLETT'S BAND PROVIDES NOON MUSIC

Dancing from twelve to one every Friday in the Gym is held by the Block S Society, according to Mike Driscoll, chairman of the dance committee.

The admission is ten cents and entitles the student to hear Lee Scarlet and his five piece band, aided by Trudy Boyle, soloist.

Driscoll expressed the opinion that from now on, noonday dances will be an even greater success

CAMERA CLUB OFFERS PRIZES FOR PHOTOS

Trying it out for rthe first time on the campus, a Photography Contest is now being sponsored by the local Camera Club, according to Harold Martin, publicity director. The deadline for submitting pictures is set for November 13.

The rules of the contest as adopted by members of the organization, headed by Dr. T. Treutlein, last Wednesday, are as follows:

1. Each contestant should list complete details as to technique, materials and camera.
2. Minimum size of prints 5 inch by 7 inch.
3. Prints should not be mounted.
4. There are no restrictions on finish of print or type of paper used.
5. Any subject is acceptable for the contest.
6. Each person is limited to three prints.
7. Entry fee is ten cents (10c) per person.

I. R. C. Here For Two Day Conference

Dr. Josef L. Kunz Guest Speaker—Interesting Program Planned For Meet

With registration of delegates completed this morning, International Relations clubs of California and Nevada opened their annual conference here today. Delegates and observers from twelve colleges and universities were present at the meeting.

Dr. Josef L. Kunz, authority on international law and former professor in that subject at the Hague, will be the principal guest speaker at the conference. A Rockefeller Research Fellow, Dr. Kunz will speak on "The Present International Situation in Europe," at a banquet given at the Lotus Bowl in Chinatown.

League Director

The guest speaker was Juridicial Director of the Austrian League of Nations Society, and for twelve years Austrian representative at the International League of Nations Societies. He is at present a lecturer in law at the University of Toledo.

Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, representative of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, will play an active part in the two-day conference. She will speak at the opening session along with Paul Pahnke of the University of San Francisco and Dr. Alexander Roberts, president of the college.

Registration in the Science wing will be completed by 11 a. m. today and the first of the series of

"Post Road" Goes North

"Funny and thrilling. A first rate show, in fact, a hit"—"Good, ridiculous sport, nimbly contrived . . . one of the cleverest of the current commercial gadgets." These are but a few of the optimistic reports of New York newspapers on the play "Post Road," which is undergoing final touches in College theater.

Working late every night, the cast has turned out a fine example of cooperation, says Miss Jessie Casebolt, sponsor. A preview showing yesterday and a performance at Humboldt next Friday will assure an able cast for the opening night, November 13.

Briefly, "Post Road" is a story about a gang of crooks who choose the old Madison home in Connecticut as a rendezvous where they operate a heinous crime. Miss Emily Madison, forty-eight years old, is a fly in the ointment of the clever lawbreakers, who overrun her house.

Miss Emily Madison, the leading character, is played by Miss Carola Beetz. Other members of the cast are as follows:

New State Spirit Flames High in Building Campaign For Campus Expansion Fund

FIGHT! STATE FIGHT!

Editorial

Fighting Spirit! That and that alone will be the driving force that will carry the present campaign to secure "adequate funds for the proper development of San Francisco State College."

It will take the backing of every student at San Francisco State College, if the city of San Francisco and the State of California are to be awakened to the conditions at State.

It's your fight. It's your campaign. Your signature on the petitions to be circulated will be the opening gun in the battle to make the people of this state realize that there is a college here, and that it is sadly in need of new physical properties.

It's going to mean the end of all temporization and half way measures. It's going to mean the end of all dreaming and do-it-tomorrow attitudes. It means that you and you and you, students of San Francisco State College, will have the biggest job on your hands.

This is your college. You and you and you, students of San Francisco State College, make this college, whether you realize it or not. Any move to better the surroundings, any move to provide new buildings and equipment is a move to help you. It's your fight just as much as anybody's.

So it adds up to this: Are we going to sit back and dream while the rest of the State colleges get the cream of the appropriations? Are we going to be content with a four block campus and an old fire trap for our administration building? We shouldn't.

We are going to fight! That should be the slogan of the present campaign. That phrase should resound through the city and roll through the legislative halls at Sacramento as a thunderous chorus, swelling into a roar. We are going to fight! We will fight!

Drive To Procure 1400 Signatures Launched All Students Asked To Sign

Governor, Legislature, Clubs, Contacted In Publicity Plan

BULLETIN

There will be an important mass meeting in the gym today at 12 noon. All members of the college are urged to attend. Plans for the signing of the petitions, and the method of their circulation will be the main order of business.

Dynamic in its intensity, the State spirit flared anew as the drive to get adequate funds for the proper development of San Francisco State College swung into its first week.

Petitions are being prepared for signature by every member of the student body. These petitions, to be circulated Monday, are the opening wedge in the fight to awaken State and city authorities to the fact that San Francisco State College is badly in need of campus and building additions.

The drive will be carried to Sacramento with efforts being made to induce the Governor, Frank F. Merriam, and the two houses of the Legislature, to heed the petitions.

Outside Interest

Early next week a concerted campaign to interest every organization in San Francisco and the East Bay will begin. Moving pictures, showing the actual hazardous conditions of the present College Hall, will be produced and shown to the civic groups.

It is the hope of the committee, named by Ed. Cockrum at the last Executive Board meeting, that the drive will be a concerted one and that the backing of both San Francisco and East Bay civic leaders can be secured.

Concern was voiced over the ability to get the signature of every person in the college on the petitions. Four identical petitions are required for the various State officials. This will mean that every student will have to sign the four petitions.

Student Fight

"We want the members of the student body to feel that this is their fight," said Cockrum today. "We want them to know that they

CLASS ELECTION, YEARBOOK TO SHARE BALLOT NEXT WEEK

The Associated Students of San Francisco State College will vote next Monday and Tuesday for the new class election procedure which was outlined by a committee of students.

The fate of the Franciscan will also be at stake at the coming Student Body Election. Staters will vote on the plan of compulsory year-book subscriptions to be collected at the rate of 75c a semester in conjunction with registration fees. Students entering in the spring will pay their $1.50 in one installment under the proposed system.

The committee which composed the new procedure of class election was made up of Bud Decker, Virginia Kyriazi, and Daryll Hopkins. The committee's suggestions were met with approval at the Executive Board meeting last Monday evening, with the result that the following resolutions will appear on the November 2 and 3 ballot here:

Nominations will be made from the floor at a majority meeting of the class, to be held not less than 1 week and not more than 2 weeks before election time.

Elections are to be held in the Student Body Office by secret ballot between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., unless otherwise specified by the Executive Board.

All such elections must be completed by the end of the 16th week.

A candidate will be declared elected when he receives one-half of the votes cast and is to assume the duties of his office at the beginning of the semester following his election.

Junior Prom Bids on Sale

Junior Prom bids will go on sale during the next ten days at the price of $1.50 and will remain at that figure until the night of the affair, when the cost jumps to $2.00 per bid. Shirley Canning and Rose Marie Haas, co-chairmen of the Bids Committee, in explaining this action, said that it would tend to encourage sales previous to the night of the Prom, and that it would help in handling door admissions on that night.

All committees are now fully organized and functioning, according to a statement from Pauline Quirk, vice-president of the class. She further said that next week plans called for the appearance of posters and advance publicity. Some stunts are in the making in this regard, she said.

No definite work was available from Everett Parrish, who is heading the ticket committee, but it is believed that a new procedure will be put into effect in the disposal of bids.

On the night of the Prom doors will open at eight o'clock. Music from Gary Ever's orchestra will start soon after. Howard Demeke, Junior president, made an appeal for support.

MUSIC FEDERATION PLAYS HALLOWE'EN

The Music Federation will have their social gathering put to the tune of a Hallowe'en atmosphere tonight in Annex 10B, Leon Mineor acting as chairman of arrangements.

Music will be heard via a radio set tuning in on some of the most popular dancing maestros.

MATH, PEN TESTS SET FOR NOVEMBER 14

All students working for a Kindergarten, Elementary or Junior High credential, or a combination thereof, must take the Mathematics test: The next one is scheduled for November 14, in room 210, from 9 to about 11. No student who has taken this test once may take it again.

All students working for a Kindergarten, Elementary, Junior High or special credential in Music or Physical Education, or combinations thereof must take the Penmanship test. Candidates for the Nursing credential must also take this test, which will be given in room 117 on November 14, immediately following the Mathematics test.

FROM THIS SIDE

By BILL BUCHAN

With the writing of this column we return to the plan of presenting both sides of the question of the compulsory annual fee. As first guest writer we have asked Bob Barry to present his views on the matter. Producing an annual by the subscription method, Barry has had a chance to study the question and give unbiased views for both sides.

Editor

The Golden Gater:

Dear

In a few weeks the question of the compulsory annual will be brought to a vote of the student body. To give an impartial view of both sides of the question has been my invitation from yourself.

The advantages of the compulsory fee of 75c a semester are as follows:

1 By having a definite sum set aside each semester for publication of the annual, the editor can plan his dummy ahead of time and give you a larger, more completely planned book.

2 Assure you of a definite early delivery date.

These advantages are gained because, with a definite amount of money, contracts may be let early, thus producing an early publication and cheaper but better printing and engraving, since there is more time to get bids on the work. Under the present system, nothing can be planned until the last minute.

3 There will not be the double assignment of having to obtain subscriptions as well as advertising for the book.

By imposing this added burden, the student body challenges a journalistic group used to writing only, to get a sufficient number of subscriptions to finance the book.

Since sufficient subscriptions were not obtained last year the result was a magazine. The present annual is still "in the balance" until sufficient subscriptions are obtained. If these subscriptions are not obtained NO ANNUAL will be produced. This will be the result in the future—NO ANNUALS—unless some system is used to guarantee sufficient subscriptions. Surely $1.50 a year will not break anyone, when he has had, in the last semester, to pay an additional two dollars on his Student Body fee charges.

The disadvantages of the compulsory fee, insofar as I can see, are as follows:

(1) There is the possibility of

One advantage in writing a column, is that one has an opportunity to air his likes and dislikes, though not without disastrous results at times. Especially in regard to radio performers are we choosy. A simple flip of the dial will remove the undesirable performer from your ken, but your scribe feels duty bound to listen in on all the programs he can get his ear to.

The Show Boat program has been on the radio for years and we've listened to many times, but we still like Lanny Ross ... and we're anticipating funny ... in May and January. Never ... Third String Finally Gets Game Trial

First Row of Rooters Starts Tonight In Clash With Boys' Club

Tonight the front-line rooting section gets a chance to "get in there" when the Gater second and third string players take on the San Francisco Boys' Club. Coaches Farmer and Harden have not had the opportunity to dig far down into their reserves this season, because most of the games have been too close to risk putting inexperienced players on the field. Tonight, these second and third string players will be pitted against a strong organization coached by a former University of Nevada gridder, Andy Brown.

Too much credit cannot be given these unsung heroes who have survived practice sessions as body-wracking as the actual games. They must sit on the benches and get slivers in their pants when they would give their right arms to be in the midst of the conflict raging on the field. The tension is terrific on the substitutes bench and there is no opportunity to work it off on an adversary.

The Gaters and the Boys' Club outfit seem to be evenly matched as to weights with the Clubmen having a slight advantage in the backfield. As to actual playing experience on the field the Boys' Club must again be conceded an advantage with three games under their belt. Coaches Farmer and Harden will be particularly attentive to the efforts of their proteges, because these second and third string players will fill the shoes of graduating first string players next year.

Starring for the S. F. B. C. eleven will probably be Frank Skelly, former Mission High gridder, who is a triple-threat fullback and who packs a grand total of one hundred and eighty pounds of football protoplasm. For State Gordon Bolander will probably match Skelly's performance and perhaps outshine the Boys' Club star. Charley Iago and Red Thompson will handle the blocking details; Harry Holloway and Johnny Struvens will probably handle the tackle jobs and Giles Daniel will, no doubt, take the pivot job.

Playday Has Olympics As Motive Force

San Francisco State College campus will be the locale of the gathering of over 250 high school girls and instructors for their semi-annual play day, Saturday, October 31, 1936. These participants will come from 52 schools, and some of the outstanding girl athletes of California will be present.

The local college has been fortunate enough to obtain as guest speaker at the luncheon, Miss Helene Mayer, Olympic fencing champion and teacher at Mills College. Miss Mayer will tell about her experiences in the Olympic Games at Amsterdam, Los Angeles and Berlin.

The day's activities will start at 9:45 with an introductory period, followed by play periods featuring basketball, volleyball, baseball, kickball and other recreational games. Luncheon and entertainment from 12 until 2 o'clock will complete the day's festivities. This semi-annual play day is held to kindle the spirit of non-competitive sports among girls. The majority of the Oakland high schools are sending delegations.

Hoop Squads In Intramural

With the signing of teams rapidly under way, intramural basketball plans are nearing completion. Differing from last year, when there were only five teams entered, this year's program will see almost twenty teams lined up. Physical Education classes are forming teams of their respective members as well as outsiders.

All the campus clubs will be represented if possible by club members.

THE BIG CHANCE!

GRUNT AND GROAN ARTISTS SIGNED FOR BLOCK "S" SHOW

November 24 was set as the tentative date for the Block "S" ring show by Sid Traeger, chairman. A strong card has been lined up for this attraction.

Heading the show will be the fifteenth, or sixteenth, or seventeenth annual renewal of the famous struggle between Maury "Muscles" Schwarz and his partner the effervescent "Sad" Sam Goldstein.

The records on this titanic battle have been mislaid, temporarily. However, Schwarz is said to have the edge by a couple of matches, although Goldstein disputes it.

The act will provide an hour of glee for the uninitiated. Stools, even spectators, are used to put across the marvelous technique of this durable combination.

Schwarz is scheduled to do his iron man act when he tackles the light heavy champ of his former Alma Mater San Francisco Junior College.

Added attractions will be the match between Bud Decker, champ grunter and groaner of the National Guard and Harry McDevitt.

SPORT SHANTS

By KEN JOHNSON

There's one nice thing about our athletic teams; they hardly ever cry after a game has been lost. For all the beatings that the Gaters have taken, no one can say that they haven't taken them like a man. Football has been anything but a howling success through the years; but never a murmur of poor officiating, illegitimate players, and so on. State basketball teams have played teams that threw everything but the rule book at them, and faced some of the strangest officiating that exists, without a complaint. But boy, oh boy, that Chico game.

Well, it all had a funny smell. There were four officials, all of them recent graduates of Chico State College. Now that isn't such a revelation. They could be honest and far be it from us to say they weren't, but there were some mighty peculiar decisions. For example: Harrison Holloway, varsity tackle, says that he noticed one of the arbitrators reaching for the ball and still trying to maintain the spot for the ball with his toe. The result was a gain of some two or three feet every down. Not bad eh!

Here's another one. Bill Plutte, Bill Ferem, Bud Hanrahan and a couple of other fellows in the line, swear that the ball was still short of the goal on the Chico touchdown. Everyone was complaining of the slow whistle that enabled the heavy Chico backs to gain extra yardage.

There will be more meetings of the Wildcats and the Gaters this year. The basketball team travels there for one or two games. The track team meets the Wildcats in Chico. Not once do the lads from the valley invade the bay area. So the Gaters must face home town officiating in every contest against the ancient rivals.

And it bodes no good for the Purple and Gold in basketball and track. The loss of Clem Zannini, Harry Post, Merv Chionio, George Mirande and Ru Stone leaves a small nucleus for Farmer to build on. With Stone, the one-man track team, out of competition, Coach Dave Cox faces a similar trouble in track.

It gives Chico all the advantages on the material side, but remember, as the lad that wrote the preview of the Chico game so ably stated, "Hell hath no fury like a Gater scorned."

Speed Backs Worry State Grid Mentors

Santa Barbara Boasts Of All-American As Backfield Threat

One question worried Coaches Dan Farmer and Hal Harden today. Would the Santa Barbara team prove to be the Moses that will put forth his hand and say "Halt!" to the Golden Tide. Or would the Tide engulf the Santa Barbara team in the worst upset of the season.

Old Man Dope Again

Old man dope, who's been kicked over twice by the Purple and Gold, shakes his finger and says that the Gauchos will win. The seasonal record of the southern aggregation lists five wins, the last of this consecutive string being over Whittier. But to cap the climax the Santa Barbara Freshmen hold a 13-12 victory over the Gilmore-Miramonte outfit. This should bring very pleasant dreams to Messrs. Farmer, Harden, et al.

Spark-plug of the Gauchos and headache-in-advance for the Tide will be Bob "Scooter" Morelli. Smallest man on the southern squad, he has a reputation of scoring touchdowns from return of punts. He lead the southern conference in points scored at the mid-season mark.

Then add this fellow Howard Yeager, Morelli's teammate in the backfield. Only picked by Grantland Rice for honorable mention on his All-American team in 1935, Yeager is another 9.9 Gilmore.

Are We Men?

Shall we continue this headache-in-advance for the coaches? The sports staff says No! We agree with them.

The other side of the picture is bright, though. Maybe it's a false glow we don't know? But here is the dope from the Gaters' den in the bowels of Frederic Burk.

Several new plays will be added to the repertoire the Purple and Gold. Possibility of new scoring plays were being discussed. Drills on fundamentals will also take a part of the time of the varsity during the next week or two.

The moral after the Chico "Moral" victory is high. The squad has kicked over the dope twice and are set to do the same when they roll into Santa Barbara next week.

POLITICAL SYMPOSIUM SET FOR NOVEMBER 2, MAJOR PARTY HEADS SPEAK HERE

Little Theater Will Be Scene For Political Discussion—Backed By Federation Of Clubs—Dr. Roberts Urges All Students To Attend

A promise of a fine lunch hour of political discussions for State students was made known today by Richard Nelson, president of the Federation of Clubs, who is in charge of the political discussion which is scheduled for Monday, November 2, in the Little Theater.

J. Wallace Gallagher has been busy the last week contacting the representatives of the political parties who are campaigning for the coming election. The parties which will be represented at the discussion are: Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and Communists. At the present time, the names of the speakers are not known, however, Gallagher remarked that the speakers will be prominent business men who are affiliated with the various parties.

"The prime purpose of the discussion is to awaken the minds of the students politically and, in turn, be able to think for themselves when it comes time to vote," so stated Gallagher.

This political symposium was originated by the members of the American Student Union on the campus. Being too big a responsibility for one club to undertake, the Federation of Clubs undertook the responsibility of making the discussion a success.

According to Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, president of the College, this symposium will be offered for the first time at the College and, every wide-awake student should take advantage of the opportunity to hear the representatives of the different parties express their views for the coming election.

Zannini Again On Air Waves

A radio audition held by Vida R. Sutton resulted in the representation of San Francisco State College over the air waves. Clement Zannini, high senior student, was State's representative.

The program, entitled "The Magic of Speech," is heard on Saturday mornings from 8:00 to 8:30 o'clock over station K.G.O. and the blue network.

"The purpose of this program," stated Clem Zannini, "is to improve and correlate speech with the schools and home; especially the social science in public schools."

Zannini took part in four weekly broadcasts; the last three weeks in September and the first week in October.

His first appearance on the stage came during his sophomore year in "Death Takes a Holiday," directed by Miss Jessie Casebolt, instructor of College Theater. Other productions presented by College Theater in which he took part are: "Hay Fever," and "Lombardi Ltd." He will enact the part of Cartwright in the play "Post Road," presented at the Community Playhouse on Friday, the 13th of November.

Zannini is prominent in school affairs. He is a member of the Block "S" and historian for College Theater.

CAMPUS GROUPS SUPPORT FIELD

Four campus organizations have contributed a fund amounting to $48.75 to be applied on Roberts' Field stated Mr. Leo C. Nee last week.

Of this sum the Parent-Faculty Club donated $20, the San Francisco Alumni Associated $10, the Advisory Council $10.75, and the Women's Athletic Association $8.00.

Scribes Elect New President

With the installation of Curtis Zahn, Gater reporter, as president of the Scribes Club, succeeding Peggy Cleghorn, who resigned last week, the club's plans for publication of a magazine of creative writing, the Westscribe, are going forward rapidly.

Under the sponsorship of the Scribes, the magazine is open to contributors at large, and is scheduled to appear monthly for five cents.

Student contributors may be assured that their work will obtain a reading if it is posted in box 581, stated Zahn.

The meetings of this organization are regularly held on Monday at noon, changing from the former date of Friday. The club is still open to membership.

Though in his first term at State, Zahn, new Scribes president, has had wide experience in writing.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT INAUGURATES TEAS

Inaugurating a new idea in the way of teas, the faculty members of the English department have decided to hold them the fourth Wednesday of every month, so that the students may become acquainted with other English majors or minors.

Mr. Frank L. Fenton, chairman of the English department, was in charge of the tea and was assisted by Miss Mary L. Kleinecke. Students' representative of particular phases of English also acted as hosts and hostesses.

Hallowe'en decorations were carried out in the food as well as the pumpkins and greenery, at the first tea held last Wednesday in the Activities Room. Approximately two hundred students attended the reception.

are the second largest of the State colleges. Yet in the past years they have received the lowest appropriations of any of the colleges."

"It is necessary that every student sign the petitions," said Harold Martin, leading figure in the drive. "We feel that if we can show them the solid backing of the student body, that we can put this drive across."

Co-operation of practically every organization in the college was assured as the plans for the drive were being pushed. Class meetings will be held within the next few days to discuss the petitions and campaign. Speakers will contact club meetings and tell the various organizations the purposes of the idea.

SOCIAL SCIENTISTS URGE OFFICE MOVE

If instructors of Social Science approve the suggestion offered by Dr. Roy S. Cave, chairman of the Social Science department, all offices in this department will be moved to the second floor of College Hall and centered in and about Room 217, the office formerly occupied by Miss Jessie Casebolt.

Dr. Cave's suggestion was prompted by the desire to localize the department for the convenience of students majoring and minoring in Social Science. However, because of his affiliation with the Golden Gater, Dr. Cave will remain at his present location, Room 116, situated across from the Publications office.

RADIO FANS GET AUSTRALIA

The peak of efficiency was approached last Sunday night during a social gathering of the members of the newly organized radio club. Amateur station W6BIP provided both housing accommodations and entertainment for the group.

In response to a general call the operator of W6BIP successfully established two-way, short wave, radio telephone communication with a station in Sidney, Australia. The foreign operator requested information from Berkeley, which was obtained by means of the telephone and returned, the entire procedure requiring less than ten minutes. It was estimated that the cost of this information if obtained through commercial channels would have amounted to approximately fifty dollars. Amateur operators are forbidden by law to accept fees for their services.

Contacts were also made with China and New Zealand.

According to Carlos S. Mundt, sponsor of the club, definite plans regarding the proposed college station will be postponed for the remainder of the semester.
